The wood grain pattern seen here was a signature technique of Kiyoshi Saito. Rather than elaborate carving and refinement of the wood block, he considered the wood grain an inherent part of the finished print.